

- Association founded 1914
- Affiliated to FIFA 1923

Flag

Association emblem

World map

Football in Brazil

Football and Brazilian life go hand in hand. Brazil have won the FIFA World Cup™ five times (1958, 1962, 1970, 1994 and 2002), the FIFA World Youth Championship three times (1983, 1985, 1993) and the FIFA U-17 World Championship once (1999). The only honour on the world stage to have eluded Brazil so far is the Olympic Football Tournament. Brazil is unsurpassed as a breeding ground for famous players - no other country can match its record. Small wonder that the country leads the way with regard to the number of players gracing leagues abroad. Several coaches have accepted positions in the Gulf and have subsequently led their charges to continental and intercontinental triumphs. Intriguingly, the same coaches have often returned to train the Brazilian national team (Zagallo 1970, 1998; Parreira 1994, 2006).

Brazil are also the powerhouses of South American women's football, and sit proudly alongside European and North American teams in the world's elite. Proof of the progress that Brazil have made in recent years was provided by their third-place finish at the FIFA Women's World Cup 1999, a feat that was backed up by a fourth-place finish a year later at the Olympic Women's Football Tournament in Sydney.

The first Goal Project

On 15 October 2003, the Goal Bureau approved a project to build a training centre for football coaches run by the Brazilian FA. This centre in Teresopolis, Rio de Janeiro, will help fill a gap that has existed in this top football nation for many years.

Financing of Goal project

Project

Training centre in Teresopolis, Rio de Janeiro

Project approved

15 October 2003

Status

Opened on 1 February 2005

Financed by

Goal	USD	400,000
Association	USD	60,157
Total cost	USD	460,157

Use of FAP funds

- Association founded 1914
- Affiliated to FIFA 1923

Flag

Association emblem

World map

Football in Brazil

Football and Brazilian life go hand in hand. Brazil have won the FIFA World Cup™ five times (1958, 1962, 1970, 1994 and 2002), the FIFA World Youth Championship three times (1983, 1985, 1993) and the FIFA U-17 World Championship once (1999). The only honour on the world stage to have eluded Brazil so far is the Olympic Football Tournament. Brazil is unsurpassed as a breeding ground for famous players - no other country can match its record. Small wonder that the country leads the way with regard to the number of players gracing leagues abroad. Several coaches have accepted positions in the Gulf and have subsequently led their charges to continental and intercontinental triumphs. Intriguingly, the same coaches have often returned to train the Brazilian national team (Zagallo 1970, 1998; Parreira 1994, 2006).

Brazil are also the powerhouses of South American women's football, and sit proudly alongside European and North American teams in the world's elite. Proof of the progress that Brazil have made in recent years was provided by their third-place finish at the FIFA Women's World Cup 1999, a feat that was backed up by a fourth-place finish a year later at the Olympic Women's Football Tournament in Sydney.

Second Goal project

The development programme launched for the Brazilian association in project 1 is to be continued in project 2 by building or renovating a total of 20 new classrooms all around the country. Training has hitherto been focused on coaches but will be extended to include a large-scale development programme for referees. The project, intended both as infrastructure and as a development project, was approved by the Goal Bureau on 15 March 2006 and will be funded entirely by the Goal programme.

Financing of Goal project

Project

20 classrooms all over the country as an extension of the Brazilian coaching academy in Rio de Janeiro

Project approved on

15 March 2006

Status

Opened on 10 April 2008

Financed by

Goal	USD	400000
Total cost	USD	400,000

Use of FAP funds

- Association founded 1914
- Affiliated to FIFA 1923

Flag

Association emblem

World map

Football in Brazil

Football and Brazilian life go hand in hand. Brazil have won the FIFA World Cup™ five times (1958, 1962, 1970, 1994 and 2002), the FIFA World Youth Championship three times (1983, 1985, 1993) and the FIFA U-17 World Championship once (1999). The only honour on the world stage to have eluded Brazil so far is the Olympic Football Tournament. Brazil is unsurpassed as a breeding ground for famous players - no other country can match its record. Small wonder that the country leads the way with regard to the number of players gracing leagues abroad. Several coaches have accepted positions in the Gulf and have subsequently led their charges to continental and intercontinental triumphs. Intriguingly, the same coaches have often returned to train the Brazilian national team (Zagallo 1970, 1998; Parreira 1994, 2006).

Brazil are also the powerhouses of South American women's football, and sit proudly alongside European and North American teams in the world's elite. Proof of the progress that Brazil have made in recent years was provided by their third-place finish at the FIFA Women's World Cup 1999, a feat that was backed up by a fourth-place finish a year later at the Olympic Women's Football Tournament in Sydney.

Third Goal project

A nationwide communication project by the Brazilian football association aims to network various regional offices with one another and thus enhance general communication, licensing, the match reporting system etc. The Goal/Bureau of 22 October 2008 gave the go-ahead for this third project of the Brazilian football association.

Project

Computer network to enhance communication in all of Brazil's regional offices

Project approved on

22 October 2008

Status

Implementation

Financed by

Goal	USD	400,000
Total cost	USD	400,000

Use of FAP funds

Football education and courses	No of courses until 1990	1991	1992	1993	1994	1995	1996	1997	1998	1999	2000	2001	2002	2003	2004	2005	2006	2007	2008	2009	2010
		FUTURO III regional courses
Refereeing (men and women)
Coaching (men)
Coaching (women)
Administration and management
Football medicine
Seminars
Women's football
Futsal
Com-Unity
MA Seminars
MA courses
Administration
Refereeing (men and women)
Coaching (men and women)
Beach soccer
Futsal
Olympic solidarity coaching courses
Development courses and academies (1975 - 1990)	1
FUTURO I-II courses for all football branches

●: Course host country

□: Course participant in another country

Women's football

When, in 1995, today's FIFA President said "The future of football is feminine", it was more than mere lip service. It reflected a strong belief in the huge potential that women's football has to develop. Ever since, FIFA has given targeted support for the efforts of associations who offer women the same opportunities to develop as male players. Launched in 1998, FIFA's Financial Assistance Programme (FAP) introduced a requirement in 2004 for the associations and confederations to invest at least 4% of their FAP funding into women's football. This threshold was increased to 10% in 2005. On top of this commitment, FIFA also promotes the women's game in more general ways by directly financing women's matches and organising competitions and symposiums. Thanks to its development programmes, FIFA is also playing an active role in the training of administrators, coaches, referees and sports doctors.

Does an organised women's football set-up exist?	yes
If so, since when?	1989
From which age on, players are registered?	15
Women's teams (open or over 16 years)	61
Women's teams (below 16 years, youth)	n/a
National competition (or women's league)	no
Regional competitions	yes
University competitions	yes
School competitions	yes
Futsal competitions	no
National "A" team	yes
National youth teams: age categories	n/a

Brazil's 2007 World Cup silver medallists