The results of the individual votes of the jury members shall be published on www.FIFA.com. For the avoidance of doubt:

In the event that two or more nominees receive the same number of votes as the nominee in the last position on the shortlist in any of the above categories, the tiebreaking procedure will be the following:

In the event of a tie after the above procedure has been applied, the player or coach with the highest number of "five-point" scores (as defined in article 6 below) from the votes cast by its own group of voters (i.e. for men's players the votes of men's national team captains, for men's coaches the votes of men's national team coaches, for women's players the votes of women's national team captains, and for women's coaches the votes of women's national team coaches) shall be placed in a higher position. In the event that this also leads to a tie, the player or coach with the highest number of "three-point" scores (as defined in article 6) from the votes cast by its own group of voters (i.e. for men's players the votes of men's national team captains, for men's coaches the votes of men's national team coaches, for women's players the votes of women's national team captains and for women's coaches the votes of women's national team coaches) shall be placed in a higher position. In the event that this still leads to a tie, the shortlist may be expanded to include all nominees receiving the same number of votes as the nominee in the last position.

Art. 6. The three players and three coaches nominated by each jury member receive five points, three points or one point, respectively, depending on whether the juror places the player or coach first (five points), second (three points) or third (one point).

The Award will be bestowed upon the player or coach who receives the highest final score.

- Art. 8. In the event of a tie for first place after the above procedure has been applied, the player or coach with the highest number of "five-point" scores from the votes cast by its own group of voters (i.e. for men's players the votes of men's national team captains, for men's coaches the votes of men's national team coaches, for women's players the votes of women's national team captains, and for women's coaches the votes of women's national team coaches) shall be the winner of the relevant Award. For the avoidance of doubt, FIFA is not obliged to publish such nominations or communicate any such decision to the member or to any other person.
